

Capt. Lyman Stuart

Jewell Island Adventure

Enjoy one of the best islands in Casco Bay

Summary

- Full 24 hours on Casco Bay
- Stay on board or on the island
- Anchor in Cocktail Cove
- Watch the sunset, stars and sunrise
- Explore the island and the towers
- Sailing around the nearby islands

Description:

Jewell Island is a small island in Casco Bay, Maine. It is located off the coast of Cliff Island. It is a state-owned island with a small but protected harbor as well as camping and walking paths. There are also WWII towers on the island. Cocktail Cove is very popular for kayaking and the Punchbowl located in the northeast area of the island. The island is part of the city of Portland.

The island is rich in legend — tales are told of Captain Kidd cruising its coast and hiding treasure. The WWII bunkers are said to be haunted by soldiers, and the beaches by bootleggers. Several accounts of ghostly encounters can be heard in local towns.

